Johannesburg is the biggest city in South Africa and also the financial hub of Southern Africa. Johannesburg is a relative young city, just over 100 years old. The city is proud to be the biggest man made forest in the world and consists of over ten million trees, making it a beautiful green city in summer. The majority of South Africa's gold mines can be found near Johannesburg and gave rise to the city just over 100 years ago. Johannesburg is also known as one of the most cosmopolitan cities in Africa with a mixing pot of different cultures from South Africa, Africa and the world.
